LOCAL SCOUTS COMMENDED FOR GATHERING NUTS

Play Important Part In Nation-Wide Movement Of Boy Scouts.

FOREST PAPER PAYS TRIBUTE

The important part Gettysburg and Adams county Boy Scouts are playing in the nation-wide nut tree planting project is vividly related in an article appearing in the American Forests magazine, a national publication.

The article is as follows:

"Thirty-two Boy Scouts are dressed in the last word of the scouting mode according to 'High Lights of 1932,' the annual report of the National Nut Tree Planting Council. These models of what the well-dressed scout will wear were awarded complete outfits because of the feats they accomplished as participants in the nation-wide nut tree planting program. They are the champion nut gatherers, each having collected a minimum of twenty-five bushels of black walnuts. Two silver loving cups, one awarded on a troop basis, the other on an individual basis, and thirty-two complete uniforms have been presented to the youngsters who established records in this patriotic conservation program.

Local Champion

"The champion of them all is Harry Ebert, Eagle Scout of Winchester, Virginia, who collected ninety bushels of walnuts. To him went a silver cup and one of the outfits consisting of a shirt, breeches, hose, shoes, belt and neckerchief. Last year's champion, Clyde Sowers, of Gettysburg, Pennsylvania, ran him a close second by gathering seventy-five bushels of nut seeds. Third honors went to Dwight Sites of the same tribe of Lone Scouts. He gathered sixty-seven bushels.

"Although the individual records are amazing as anyone will appreciate who has ever gathered even a single bushel of nuts," said G. H. Collingwood, secretary-treasurer of the nut tree planting program and forester of The American Forestry association, in announcing the awards, "the remarkable accomplishments of groups must not be underestimated."

1018 Bushels Here

"Boy Scouts in the York-Adams council led by Scout Executive Ray F. Zaner gathered 1018 bushels of black walnuts in the Gettysburg area. Scout Executive Frank R. 3 OPINIONS ARE HANDED DOWN BY JURIST MONDAY

Sustains Affidavit Of Defense In Renshaw-Bream Action.

Three opinions were handed down by Judge Donald P. McPherson in court, Monday afternoon.

The court sustained an affidavit of defense raising questions of law, in the case of John P. Renshaw, administrator of the estate of Charles T. Renshaw, deceased against C. C. Bream, Jr. and C. C. Bream, administrator of the estate of Jere J. Bream, deceased.

In sustaining the affidavit of defense, the court ruled that the action as originally set forth be dismissed and stricken from the record.

Orders Judgment

The court sustained a defense motion for judgment in the action brought by L. West Miller and Nevin Rider against the Southern asphalt company and Joseph Hockensmith and ordered that judgment be entered for the defendants notwithstanding the verdict, which awarded Miller and Rider damages as the result of an automobile accident.

An appeal from the court's opinion will now be taken to the supreme court, it was learned authoritatively.

In the third opinion the court overruled a demurrer in the case of B. G. Pratt company against the American fruit growers and ordered the defendant to file an affidavit of defense.

Orphans' Court

In orphans' court, Judge McPherson, in an opinion, directed the Citizens' trust company to pay the remainder of the state inheritance tax in the John Q. A. Peiffer estate. The balance of the inheritance tax was not paid because the register and recorder failed to inform the auditor in the estate that the tax was unpaid.

Burgess Heiges Will Veto 5-Year Street Lighting Ordinance

Six Members Of Council Vote For New Contract Despite Warning By Executive Officer That He Will Refuse To Sign It; May Override Veto By Two-Thirds Vote.

"WHITE WAY" BROUGHT UP AGAIN; ALDERMEN TAKE NO ACTION ON PLAN

In the face of a threatened veto by Burgess C. A. Heiges, council passed an ordinance agreeing to renew a 5-year contract with the Metropolitan Edison company for overhead street lighting in Gettysburg, at a special meeting, Monday evening.

"If that ordinance passes," Burgess Heiges had said, "I will most certainly veto it."

Despite the possibility of having the burgess refuse to affix his signature to the ordinance, council, by a roll call vote, passed the measure unanimously.

In the event Burgess Heiges refuses to sign the ordinance, thereby making it legal, the measure will be returned to council at its regular November meeting with the town's chief executive's reasons for refusing to sign.

May Override Veto

Council may then override the executive's veto by a two-thirds vote. Six councilmen, two-thirds of the councilmanic body, attended the special meeting, Monday evening, and voted for the ordinance. If the same number of councilmen vote for the ordinance at the regular November session, the measure will pass over Burgess Heiges' veto.

Burgess Heiges told council his chief objection to the street lighting contract was that it stipulates a 5-year term. The burgess said he would sign the enabling ordinance if the contract specified a one-year or three-year term contract for street lighting.

L. O. Buckner, of York, district manager for the Metropolitan Edison company, informed council that while the company will give the borough a one-year contract; the rates for service will be 17 per cent higher than under a 5-year contract.

SECOND FOREST CAMP "DIGS IN"

Three Officers And 59 Men Comprise Unit; To Recruit More Members.

Captain J. M. MacDonnell and his unit of two officers and 59 colored members of the civilian conservation corps forest camp were "digging in" early today in preparation for their stay here during the winter months.

The unit, or all that remains of the unit, arrived in Gettysburg at 6:55 o'clock Monday night. Their tourist sleepers were sidetracked at the Philadelphia and Reading station overnight and this morning their baggage was transferred to their new camp site in McMillan's woods, on Confederate avenue, on the battlefield.

Trucks Get Stuck

Their camp site, located in the rear of the woods, some distance from the avenue, is in a clearing.

Big trucks, hauling baggage and camp equipment became stuck in the muddy forest road and considerable difficulty was encountered in getting the camp set up before the threatened rain. A light drizzle fell most of the morning hampering the work of the unit in setting up camp.

Temporary tents were erected. These will be used until the new wooden barracks are completed sometime this month.

Captain MacDonnell said that the 59 men and three officers are all that remains of his original company of 200 strong. The rest failed to re-enlist for another six months after their first period of enlistment expired September 30.

To Strengthen Unit

The unit, transferred to "Hart's Pass," near Mazama, Washington, had been in the western camp since June 26. It was located 3,000 feet above sea level.

For the present the unit will confine their activities to setting up their permanent camp and placing the site in readiness for the construction of their winter barracks.

The unit will be brought up to its full strength of 200.

With Captain MacDonnell are Lt. J. Moran and Lt. R. C. Williams.

Bible Study Class Opens October 23

George M. Landis, of the Greenwood Hills Bible conference, near Caledonia, will reopen his Bible study class October 23 at 7 o'clock in the offices of Dr. Charles B. Stouffer, Murphy building, Baltimore street. Sessions will be held every other week.

The subject for study this winter will be "Romans."

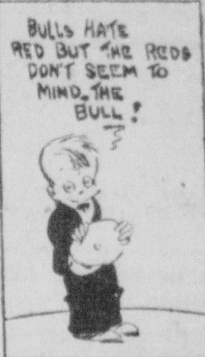

No charge will be made for the course, but a silver offering will be lifted. The sessions are open to the public.

Extension Suggested

M. B. Frazee and Frank Hamaker, members of the Chamber of Commerce light and water committee, attended the council session, but did not offer to further elucidate on the commerce body's recommendations.

Mr. Buckner pointed out that a lighting survey would only entail additional cost and that no competitive plan for furnishing current to the borough would be as reasonable as the 5-year contract of the Metropolitan Edison company. "Under the present contract," he said, "your street lights cost $2 a month each."

When council evidenced an inclination to extend the contract, (Continued on Page 2)

Treasury Officials Locked Out Of Offices During Burglar Scare

Washington, Oct. 17 (AP).—Lewis Douglas, director of the budget, stood outside the barred and bolted door of one treasury entrance; Stephen B. Gibbons, assistant secretary, stood inside another.

But the treasury guards paid no attention to their pleading for entrance and exit. Orders were orders. A few minutes earlier the siren of

3 OPINIONS ARE HANDED DOWN BY JURIST MONDAY

Sustains Affidavit Of Defense In Renshaw-Bream Action.

COURT PASSES ON 2 OTHERS

Three opinions were handed down by Judge Donald P. McPherson in court, Monday afternoon.

The court sustained an affidavit of defense raising questions of law, in the case of John P. Renshaw, administrator of the estate of Charles T. Renshaw, deceased, against C. C. Bream, Jr., and C. C. Bream, administrator of the estate of Jere J. Bream, deceased.

In sustaining the affidavit of defense, the court ruled that the action as originally set forth be dismissed and stricken from the record.

Orders Judgment
The court sustained a defense motion for judgment in the action brought by L. Wiest Miller and Nevin Rider against the Southern asphalt company and Joseph Hock-smith and ordered that judgment be entered for the defendants notwithstanding the verdict, which awarded Miller and Rider damages as the result of an automobile accident.

An appeal from the court's opinion will now be taken to the supreme court, it was learned authoritatively.

In the third opinion the court overruled a demurrer in the case of B. G. Pratt company against the American fruit growers and ordered the defendant to file an affidavit of defense.

Orphans' Court

In orphans' court, Judge McPherson, in an opinion, directed the Citizens' trust company to pay the remainder of the state inheritance tax in the John Q. A. Peiffer estate. The balance of the inheritance tax was not paid because the register and recorder failed to inform the auditor in the estate that the tax was unpaid.

Burgess Heiges Will Veto 5-Year Street Lighting Ordinance

Six Members Of Council Vote For New Contract Despite Warning By Executive Officer That He Will Refuse To Sign It; May Override Veto By Two-Thirds Vote.

"WHITE WAY" BROUGHT UP AGAIN; ALDERMEN TAKE NO ACTION ON PLAN

In the face of a threatened veto by Burgess C. A. Heiges, council passed an ordinance agreeing to renew a 5-year contract with the Metropolitan Edison company for overhead street lighting in Gettysburg, at a special meeting, Monday evening.

"If that ordinance passes," Burgess Heiges had said, "I will most certainly veto it."

Despite the possibility of having the burgess refuse to affix his signature to the ordinance, council, by a roll call vote, passed the measure unanimously.

In the event Burgess Heiges refuses to sign the ordinance, thereby making it legal, the measure will be returned to council at its regular November meeting with the town's chief executive's reasons for refusing to sign.

May Override Veto

Council may then override the executive's veto by a two-thirds vote. Six councilmen, two-thirds of the councilmanic body, attended the special meeting, Monday evening, and voted for the ordinance. If the same number of councilmen vote for the ordinance at the regular November session, the measure will pass over Burgess Heiges' veto.

Burgess Heiges told council his chief objection to the street lighting contract was that it stipulates a 5-year term. The burgess said he would sign the enabling ordinance if the contract specified a one-year or three-year term contract for street lighting.

L. O. Buckner, of York, district manager for the Metropolitan Edison company, informed council that while the company will give the borough a one-year contract, the rates for service will be 17 per cent higher than under a 5-year contract.

SECOND FOREST CAMP "DIGS IN"

Three Officers And 59 Men Comprise Unit; To Recruit More Members.

Captain J. M. MacDonnell and his unit of two officers and 59 colored members of the civilian conservation corps forest camp were "digging in" early today in preparation for their stay here during the winter months.

The unit, or all that remains of the unit, arrived in Gettysburg at 6:55 o'clock Monday night. Their tourist sleepers were sidetracked at the Philadelphia and Reading station overnight and this morning their baggage was transferred to their new camp site in McMillan's woods, on Confederate avenue, on the battlefield.

Trucks Get Stuck

Their camp site, located in the rear of the woods, some distance from the avenue, is in a clearing.

Big trucks, hauling baggage and camp equipment became stuck in the muddy forest road and considerable difficulty was encountered in getting the camp set up before the threatened rain. A light drizzle fell most of the morning hampering the work of the unit in setting up camp.

Temporary Tents Erected

These will be used until the new wooden barracks are completed sometime this month.

Captain MacDonnell said that the 59 men and three officers are all that remains of his original company of 200 strong. The rest failed to re-enlist for another six months after their first period of enlistment expired September 30.

To Strengthen Unit

The unit, transferred to "Hart's Pass," near Mazama, Washington, had been in the western camp since June 26. It was located 3,000 feet above sea level.

For the present the unit will confine their activities to setting up their permanent camp and placing the site in readiness for the construction of their winter barracks.

The unit will be brought up to its full strength of 200.

With Captain MacDonnell are Lt. J. Moran and Lt. R. C. Williams.

Bible Study Class Opens October 23

George M. Landis, of the Greenwood Hills Bible conference, near Caledonia, will reopen his Bible study class October 23 at 7 o'clock in the offices of Dr. Charles B. Stouffer, Murphy building, Baltimore street. Sessions will be held every other week.

The subject for study this winter will be "Romans."

No charge will be made for the course, but a silver offering will be lifted. The sessions are open to the public.

24-Hour Replacements

Before council agreed to accept the 5-year contract, Mr. Buckner was induced to change the clause providing 48-hour replacements of burned out street lights to 24 hours. The 48-hour clause was a stumbling block in the way of passage of the ordinance at the regular October meeting two weeks ago.

"We intend to give Gettysburg the best service possible on its street lighting," Mr. Buckner said "and if council wants the 48-hour clause reduced to 24 hours, the company will agree to the change."

Everything then looked bright for passage of the ordinance, until Burgess Heiges announced his veto threat.

Mr. Buckner said that despite the length of the lighting contract Gettysburg will be given the advantage of any reductions the company may make. Three months ago, he said, the company reduced its rates for street lighting 5 per cent and five years ago, a seven per cent reduction was given.

$5,011 a Year for Lights

The contract for street lighting, exclusive of the center square ornamental system, which is under a special 10-year contract, calls for payment of $344.87 a month, or $4,138.44 a year. The borough's light bill for street lighting and the center square system totals $5,011 a year.

Council took its action to renew the lighting contract after a communication from Dr. J. McCrea Dickson, president of the Chamber of Commerce, was read in which the light and water committee of the organization recommended that the contract be not signed.

The light and water committee of the Chamber of Commerce made the following recommendations:
"I. That it would be better not to sign a contract for borough lights for the ensuing five years, without further effort to secure adequate reduction in the contract price, and a better check-up on burned bulbs.

"2. It is further suggested that a disinterested lighting expert may save to the borough quite a sum of money over the next five years by a survey made for the council. The employment of such a lighting expert will involve an immediate cost which might ultimately result in a marked saving."

Extension Suggested

M. B. Frazer and Frank Ham-maker, members of the Chamber of Commerce light and water committee, attended the council session, but did not offer to further elucidate on the commerce body's recommendations.

Mr. Buckner pointed out that a lighting survey would only entail additional cost and that no competitive plan for furnishing current to the borough would be as reasonable as the 5-year contract of the Metropolitan Edison company. "Under the present contract," he said, "your street lights cost $2 a month each."

When council evidenced an in-

Babe In Crib
Shot To Death

Harrisburg, Oct. 17 — Delmar Hoover, 11-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Philmer R. Hoover, Upper Mifflin township, Cumberland county, was killed in his crib Monday when part of a shotgun charge accidentally discharged from a gun in the hands of a brother, Ray, 6, struck the infant as he slept. The pellets hit another child and just missed a third.

The shooting occurred about 8 o'clock Monday morning in the sitting room of the home which is located at the foot of the North mountain. Ray was playing with the shotgun. Nearby was the sleeping infant and Reba, a sister, 5, and a brother, Lloyd 3. The mother was at work in the kitchen and the father in the barn when the accident occurred.

Suddenly the gun exploded and the charge tore a hole in a sheet metal stove. Part of the load passed between the wooden bars of the crib and struck Delmar as he slept, and showered Reba with bits of wood. Another part of the load struck Lloyd's arm as he sat on a couch.

ARREST NEGRO
IN ATTACK CASE

Suspect Spirited Away From Angry Crowds; Held In Baltimore.

Princess Anne, Md., Oct. 17 (AP)—Officers and armed civilians on Maryland's Eastern Shore searched Monday afternoon and evening for a negro accused of attacking an 82-year-old white woman.

About 8:30 o'clock Monday night state police arrested George Armstrong, negro, suspected of being the attacker of the white woman. He was rushed to Baltimore to escape maddening throngs in two Maryland counties.

Assembling after the news spread that Mrs. Mary Denston, the aged wife of a Somerset county farmer, had been attacked Monday, the group, variously estimated at numbering from 500 to 1,000, began a systematic combing of woods and swamplands.

Nightfall did not halt the search. In addition to those who tramped the woods, others were at bridges and on highways to cut off all possible exits.

Mrs. Denston said she did not know the man who attacked her as she returned home after spending the night with her daughter, Mrs. Albert Wagner, but a 24-year-old negro was sought after a hat said to belong to him was found near the scene of the attack.

Somerset county officers started the search, but later in the day they appealed to officers of adjacent counties for aid. From Salisbury Sheriff G. Murray Phillips and Chief of Police N. H. Holland came at the head of a number of officers. From Berlin came Sheriff Wilmer S. Purnell, of Worcester county. State officers also joined in the hunt.

Worker Hears Screams

As he passed a clump of woods, the negro seized her, she said, and tore her clothing from her body. Marion Stacy, a state roads employe, said he heard a woman scream, and on investigation, saw Mrs. Denston. He gave her part of his clothing, took her to her home, and then notified Sheriff Luther Daugherty, of Somerset county.

MARKET RALLIES
SLIGHTLY TODAY

New York, Oct. 17 (AP)—Spots of resistance appeared in the financial market today although there were so many dips and rallies that trends generally were difficult for traders to discern.

The stock list started out with indications of regaining most of its substantial losses of the previous session. Recoveries of fractions to more than a point were recorded by most of the leaders in the first hour of active trading. The advance encountered a flood of offerings however and there was a sizable reaction around noon. Buying orders again halted the decline and most of the leaders steadied. American telephone was active at a loss of a point or more.

Moderate gains were registered by Allied Chemical, Dupont, U. S. Smelting, U. S. Steel, National Distillers, Chrysler, Case, Deere, American Smelting and American Commercial Alcohol. Union Pacific and Santa Fe were in supply at one time but came back when the list firmed.

Berlin, Oct. 17 (AP)—The Prussian ministry of the interior today renewed its strict instruction for German citizens to abstain from molesting foreigners.

"Fellow citizens will in every way possible be given public protection," said the interior minister's instructions. "Should police intervention be necessary, special tact, cautiousness and courtesy must be used."

1,200 Government Employees
Are Put On Temporary Basis

Washington, Oct. 17 (AP)—

Twelve hundred government employes went on a temporary employment basis Monday when the procurement division, whose organization was ordered by the president on June 10, came into being.

Employees were notified that their further employment was contingent upon the needs of the new agency. The procurement division was created by presidential order as an economic measure, its purpose being to center in one office the direction for all the purchasing done by the government.

Reorganization Expedited

On July 27 President Roosevelt issued an order modifying his order of June 10 to permit the treasury to delay the new organization until January 1. Recently, however, decision was taken to expedite the organization and it became effective Sunday.

Eventually, it is the purpose to have the agency either take over or direct the purchasing of all government supplies. Surveys are being made in the supply departments of all agencies to determine whether they shall be abolished or continued under direction of the central agency.

As a preliminary move, the office of the supervising architect, directing the engineers and architects engaged in government buildings and public works; the fuel yards of the bureau of mines; the general supply office and the coordinating service, an interdepartmental board, have been merged to form the procurement division.

The coordinating board has been in charge of surplus materials in all departments, of cataloging and fixing uniform specifications for government supplies.

Will Direct Purchase

Organization of the new division will proceed slowly and as the individual surveys are completed. When it is completed it will purchase or direct purchases for the army and navy as well as other departments. It is also planned to eliminate such waste as now exists in warehousing, where each bureau or agency maintains its own warehouses.

No director of the division has been named. For the time being its functions are centered in the office of the assistant secretary of the treasury in charge of public works. Nor was any estimate made of the amount of money that might be saved by the reorganization.

620,000 GIVEN
JOBS IN MONTH

Labor Department Survey
Shows Decrease In U. S. Unemployment.

Washington, Oct. 17 (AP)—The labor department reported today that more than 620,000 workers returned to their jobs during September, according to seventeen industrial groups reporting to its bureau of statistics.

Secretary Perkins said that more than 200,000 workers found employment in manufacturing industries and a slightly larger number in retail establishments. The seasonal increase in cannong accounted for 70,000.

Gains were shown in the wholesale trade. Building construction industries indicated more than 20,000 workers were added.

"This increase," said Miss Perkins, "does not represent the total number of persons who were returned to employment in all branches of industry."

"The industry is surveyed each month by the bureau of labor statistics normally employ about 20,000,000 of the 49,000,000 of gainful workers of the country."

"Only a very small portion of the more than 300,000,000 which has been let in the public works administration to date, has been awarded on September 15 and the increase in employment resulting from these contracts is not reflected in the September employment tabulation."

REICH SECRET
TUNNEL BARED

Court Calls Halt On Reference To Underground Passage To Goring Home.

Berlin, Oct. 17 (AP)—Testimony regarding an underground passage from the Reichstag building to the official residence of Reichsminister Hermann Wilhelm Goring furnished a new sensation Monday in the trial of five men on charges of firing the Reichstag last winter.

An employe of the Reichstag said on the stand that the subway had no safety lock, but merely a makeshift screw-key device which could be opened easily.

Press Cards Voided

This was the first time during the hearings, now in the seventeenth day, that the tunnel was mentioned, but after the February blaze a government communique said it was likely incendiaries escaped from the parliament building through the secret passage.

It was recalled that during the fire no one was admitted to the building or the tunnel entrances and that police cards of newspaper men were voided for the evening.

George Dimitroff, a Bulgarian refugee and one of the defendants, tried to ask about the lock and doors to the mysterious corridor, but did not get far before the court barred further questions by him in this connection.

Van Der Lubbe Identified

A defense attorney, Alfons Sack, came to Dimitroff's aid, and as a result it was thought testimony about the passage would be an important part of subsequent sessions.

Goring is the Prussian premier and minister of interior as well as national minister without portfolio. Marinus van der Lubbe, a young Dutch brick mason and another of the accused, was identified by three wandering journeymen tourists who Reichstag officials as one of three visited the building two weeks before the fire.

Interest in extensions of the ornamental street lighting system so as to include one block on each of the four streets radiating from center square, Mr. Buckner presented the following figures on the cost of such additional service:

Twenty-eight 400 candlepower lights, $1,700 a year.
Sixteen 600 candlepower lights, $1,280 a year.
Sixteen 400 candlepower lights, $1,180 a year.

The cost of installing the system and furnishing the light standards and bulbs would be borne by the electric company. Mr. Buckner said, adding that the cost of extending the ornamental lighting system is now 25 per cent less than it would have been two years ago.

No "White Way" Action

While the borough's lighting bill would be larger with the addition of the "white way," Mr. Buckner said the dollar cost per street light would be considerably less than at present.

Except for the luke-warm interest shown by council in the extension of the ornamental street lighting system, no action was taken.

Councilman John Newman reported to council that Hanover has not renewed its lighting contract with the company because it wants a reduction in rates and a one-year contract.

Asked what the company would do if Hanover refuses to renew its light contract with the Metropolitan Edison company, Mr. Buckner said he would not say what steps the company would take. He expressed the opinion, however, that the matter would be satisfactorily adjusted shortly.

Council accepted the invitation of Leroy H. Winebrenner, chairman of the American Legion's Armistice Day committee, to participate in a body in the parade on the afternoon of November 11.

A request for a light on Seminary street was referred to the light committee with authority to act.

Council ordered the highway committee to purchase 10 barrels of patching material for the streets.

To Lay Sidewalk

Lumber dealers of Gettysburg and Adams county were given permission to use the council room for a meeting, Thursday evening.

Council voted to instruct its street commissioner to proceed with the laying of a pavement in front of the property of Mrs. Emory Cleveland, Hanover street. Mrs. Cleveland has ignored several notices of council to lay a new pavement. Council will enter a lien to collect the costs for paying for the pavement.

A suggestion that the Chamber of Commerce raise money for the lighting of center square and any other streets during the Christmas holidays will be presented to the commerce body by Councilman C. Ray Rupp. Council is expected to assist with the cost of the current as it did last year.

Two green bulbs on police lights in center square were ordered replaced and the bill sent to the decorator who is alleged to have broken them.

Chapter 26

FINGERPRINT BOOK
Caroline had the sensation of having made a terrible error. That she should have followed her old nurse's sister was a piece of the most devastating bad luck. Perhaps she didn't know her—Mrs. Rodgers nodded again. "I knew you at once, miss, though I could see as you didn't know me. You haven't changed a mite since Harry 'ud bring you in for a cup of tea and some of my mint honey. I've put on a bit since those days, so I made sure you didn't know me."

"Mrs. Rodgers—" "I'm a-going to tell you what Mrs. Henry told me, and I'm not a-going to ask you why you want to know, because maybe I know already and maybe I don't, and anyway I said, soonest mended."

"Yes?" said Caroline in a whisper.

"What I said in the train is neither here nor there. There isn't a servant up at the Hall as don't know there was a tray and glasses in the study the night Mr. Van Berg was shot, and the housemaid seen with her own eyes how the police took the finger-prints—a clapper-tongued woman if there ever was one—so there ain't no secrets there. No—it was the butler told Mrs. Henry what I'm a-telling you."

"What did she tell you?"

"When they had finished taking the finger-prints and all the rest of it, the inspector he sees all the servants separate, and then he has the butler back and he says, "I understand," he says, "as Mr. Van Berg kep' a book with all his friends' finger-prints in it, he says, "That's right," says Jackson—that's the butler's name. "Well, says the inspector, "I want to see that book."

"And Jackson, he says, "It's always a-laying on Mr. Van Berg's table, and whenever he has a visitor he gets him to make his mark and sign his name." And the inspector laughs and says, "Very handy for us, Mr. Jackson."

Caroline's eyes widened.

"And then it wasn't so handy after all," said Mrs. Rodgers—"for lo and behold the book wasn't no-where to be seen."

The blood came back into Caroline's cheeks with a rush.

"And where was it?" she demanded.

"Pushed right down behind all the books at the back of the bookshelf. They went on looking till they'd found it. And then what do you think?"

"I don't know," said Caroline trembling.

Mrs. Rodgers looked at her with a kind of awful pity.

"There was a page tore out," she said.

Perhaps it was because she had been awake all night, perhaps it was because she had had a dreadful picture in her own mind of a finger-print with Jim's name sign-underneath it, but at these words, she fainted.

She was really only unconscious for about a minute, but it was long enough for Mrs. Rodgers to have laid her down flat. She had got a new cabbage-leaf out of the basket and was fanning her with it.

Caroline opened her eyes wide. She got up on her elbow, and remembered why she had fainted—she had been so horribly afraid that Mrs. Rodgers was going to say that the police had found Jim's finger-prints. A page had been torn out. Was it that page? Who had torn it out?

Mrs. Rodgers was kneeling on the grass. She sat back on her heels fanning herself now instead of Caroline.

"Who tore out the page?" said Caroline. She didn't feel as if she could wait a single moment before she asked that question.

"Who do you suppose?" said Mrs. Rodgers.

"I don't know."

"Who would tear it out, if it wasn't the one who shot Mr. Van Berg? It stands to reason he wouldn't go away and leave his finger-prints there all ready for the police, and his name signed to them—would he?"

Caroline bit her lip. There was something wrong about the way Mr. Rodgers was arguing, but she couldn't quite get hold of it—only there was something wrong. She thought of Jim, and she said with a rush,

"Oh, he wouldn't! A friend wouldn't!"

Mrs. Rodgers shook her head. "Nobody can't say that. Folks gets quarrelling, and you can't say what'll happen. But Mrs. Henry she says, and she holds it to very strong."

with the cabbage-leaf. "I can't sit on my heels like I could when I was a girl. Two hundred pounds' 200 pounds, and I shouldn't wonder if it wasn't more by now." She sat down on the stairs again.

A little color came back into Caroline's cheeks. That was it—that was what she had been trying to get hold of. If it had been Jim who had torn the page out of the book, then why hadn't he wiped his glass? Everyone knows about finger-prints nowadays. He hadn't wiped his glass because he hadn't anything to hide. He hadn't shot Elmer Van Berg.

She knelt by Mrs. Rodgers and laid a hand on her knee. "In the train you said—" Mrs. Rodgers looked glum. "And I'd better have held my tongue. No need to tell me that."

"Oh, I didn't mean that—I didn't truly. Oh, dear Mrs. Rodgers—I didn't mean anything like that."

Mrs. Rodgers relaxed a little. "In for a penny, in for a pound. What did I say?"

Something about Mrs. Van Berg's maid.

"A French 'ussy," said Mrs. Rodgers. "And if Mrs. Van Berg 'ad 'arf of the things that 'ussy's been 'inting—Not that it's only foreigners that's given to it, for that there Miss Bussell that's housekeeper at the Hall she's the worse of the two, and she knows how Mrs. Henry's stood it, for I wouldn't."

Caroline patted Mrs. Rodgers' knee. "What did the maid say?"

"Miss Louise, they call her. Well, she don't say nothing. That's just her aggravatingness—she'll 'int and 'int until you're sick, sore and sorry, and then she'll slip out of the whole thing and pretend she never said nothing."

"What does she hint?"

Mrs. Rodgers gave a kind of snort. "Int? She's as good as said it wasn't no secret to her what name was tore out, and then went back on it."

"How could she know what name had been torn out?"

"There isn't much goes on in the house as she don't know—picking and prying, and inting! 'Orrid, I call it! Letting on she knows things about Mrs. Van Berg too!"

"What sort of things?"

"She's a wicked 'ussy," said Mrs. Rodgers. "And I wouldn't repeat what she says, if it weren't for a warning. You might know someone as wanted warning, or you mightn't. If you don't, there's no harm done. Now, my dear—whether the police have got wind of it or not, I can't say, but what that 'ussy keeps 'inting is just this, that her mistress, Mrs. Van Berg, knows a sight more than she lets on."

"A gentleman quarrels with another gentleman about a lady and shoots him—what a good idea to hide the emeralds and say a thief has done it!" she says. And when Mrs. Henry and me presses her, she says she is talking about a story she has been reading in a magazine—and how I kep' my hands off her, I don't know and I can't say."

Caroline got up a little uncertainly. She held to the cross-bar of the stile and leaned against it. She wanted to get away from Mrs. Rodgers before she said anything more.

Jim wasn't in love with Susie Van Berg—it couldn't be true that he was, or that he had quarrelled with Elmer Van Berg and shot him, and hidden away the emeralds to make it look like a burglary.

She said, "There'll be another train—I must catch it."

Mrs. Rodgers got up too. (Copyright, 1933, J. B. Lippincott Co.)

OFFERS TO PAY $5,000 RANSOM

Wife of Young Law Student Asks Police To Withdraw From Case.

Chicago, Oct. 17.—(AP)—Mrs. Julia Hall Sunday night appealed to the police to withdraw the investigation of the ransom-kidnapping of her husband, William Welton Hall, wealthy law student, saying she wished to deal direct with his captors.

Through her lawyer, J. G. Latimer, Mrs. Hall said she was ready to pay the $5,000 demanded for her husband's safe return. Latimer issued the following statement:

"Mr. Hall's wife and mother desire above all things the safe return of Mr. Hall. They regret the publicity which, without their consent or desire, has been given to his disappearance. SUGGESTS TOUR TO VIEW WOODS

Autumnal Coloration, Now In Process In State, Presents Beautiful Scenery.

"Now is the time of year to see Penn's Woods in all the glory of their autumnal coloration," said John W. Koller, deputy secretary of the department of forests and waters, today.

"Beautiful at any time, our Pennsylvania forests in the autumn have charms that are unsurpassed and afford scenic views which once seen will long be remembered."

The coloration of the forests in the northern tier of counties is about 50 per cent advanced and is moving southward at a rapid rate, said Koller. The coloration will be at its height in the southern part of the state during the next two weeks, it is expected.

Trees whose foliage assume red, scarlet, or orange tints in the fall are red and sugar maple, black gum, dogwood, sumac, catalpa, junberry and scarlet and white oaks. These whose leaves turn to yellows of varied shades are tulip tree, hickory, locust, birch and beech.

The phenomenon of the autumnal coloration was once thought to have been caused by frost. It is now known that early frost may help, but does not cause it.

Plant physiologists claim that autumnal coloration is caused by a check to the vitality of the leaves, when the manufacture of chlorophyll which gives them their green color ceases with the waning vitality of the tree.

FEW SOUTHPAWS ON PRO GRID

New York, (AP)—Southpaws are an accepted fact in baseball with a place on every pitching staff but in football there are few capable of making the major leagues. There are only two southpaw backs left in the National Football league, Bud Doehring, former Illinois back of the Chicago Bears, and Otto Volzky, former Heidelberg college star, now with the Chicago Cardinals.

U.S. Joins Virginia in Bidding Farewell to Admiral Byrd

Norfolk, Va., Oct. 17.—(AP)—The U. S. Navy today joined with Virginia in bidding farewell to the explorer, who arrived early Sunday morning, were introduced. Mr. Farley spoke from New York, describing the far flung reaches of the United States postal service, with special reference to the Little America postoffice and special Byrd stamps.

The Marine band and the Navy band at Washington and the Norfolk naval base band furnished music and Kate Smith sang.

Admiral Byrd arrived here Sunday morning and joined his mother and two brothers at a local hotel. Later the party went to the navy yard, where the Jacob Ruppert is docked. The Ruppert will take on the bunker coal and more supplies before she sails and is not expected to set away on her long trip before Wednesday or Thursday.

Wisconsin Town Boasts Of Cash

Superior, Wis. (AP)—A town without a debt and with a substantial cash balance has been found in Douglas county, Wisconsin.

It is Cloverland with a population of 400, an area of 30,000 acres, three schools, a gravelled road "to every farm"—and the distinction of producing one per cent of the total pea crop in the United States.

Conservative operation of the township's affairs is responsible for the record, says State Senator Philip E. Nelson of Maple, who has been chairman of the town board for 12 of the 13 years of its existence.

This year's statement of assessment showed that township's valuation to be $310,740. Only four families have been on the town's relief list.

Vendors Of Food Obey Regulations

The food and drink stand proprietors operating at county fairs during the late summer and autumn have been satisfactorily observing the state health department's regulations, according to H. M. Haines, chief of the restaurant hygiene section of the state health department.

Personnel of this section have been patrolling the grounds of all Pennsylvania fairs since the latter part of August and will conclude this supervisory work during the next two weeks.

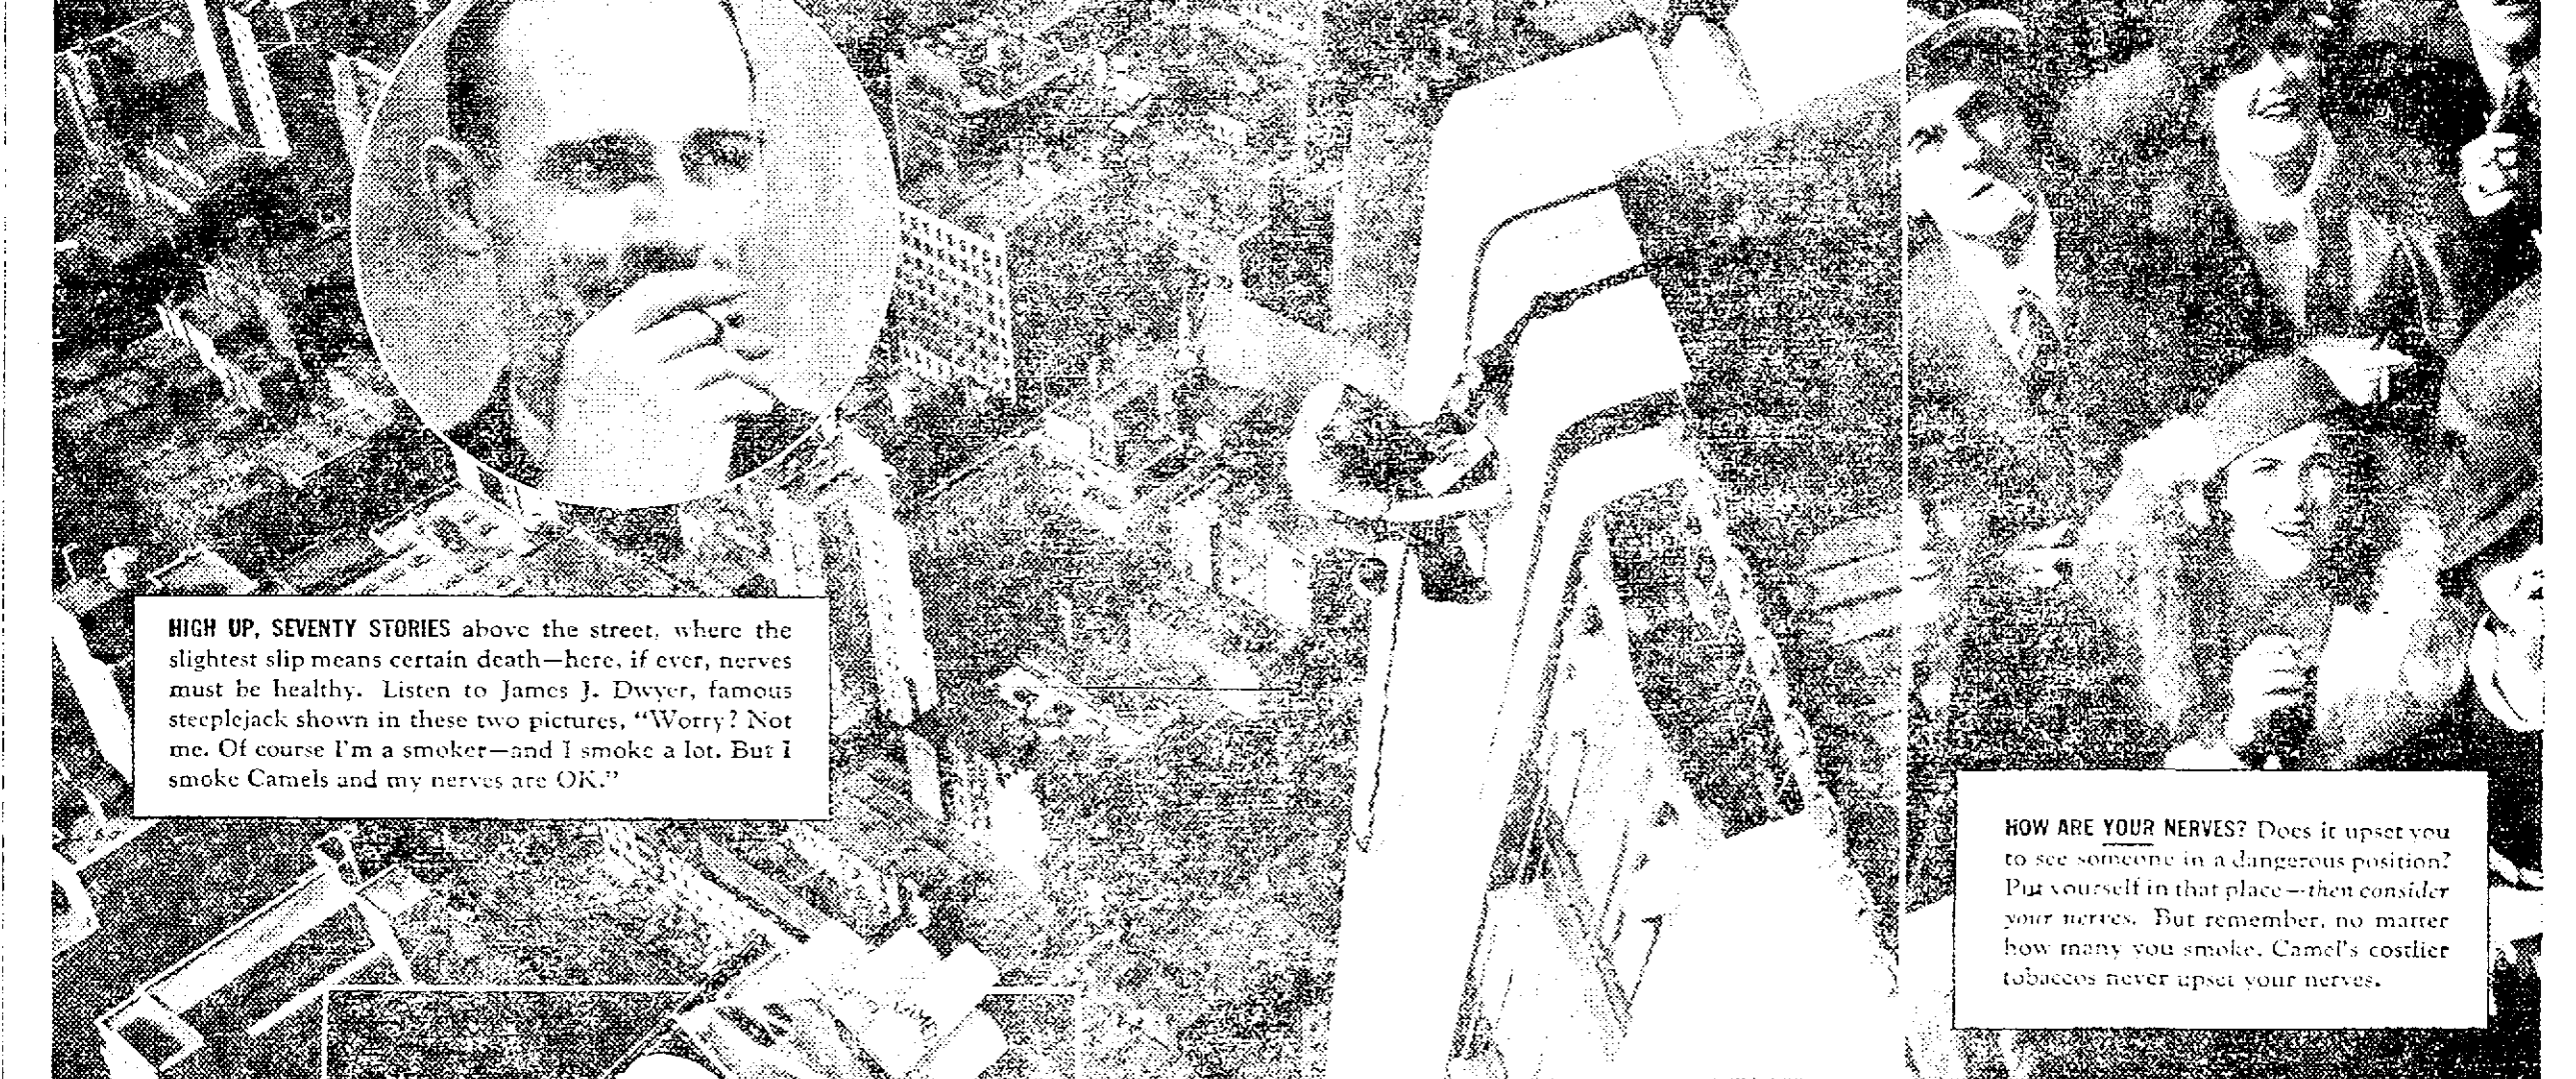

The regulations require a physical examination of all food handlers and the establishment of necessary precautions to protect all foods eaten in the raw state from flies, dirt and dust. No prosecutions have been required to enforce compliance. The direct and constant supervision by department representatives resulted in the remedying of a large number of unsatisfactory conditions.

San Francisco, Oct. 17 (AP)—Mrs. Ethel L. Martin, charged in a federal complaint with hoarding gold in violation of presidential order, will surrender to federal authorities here her son, John D. Martin, Jr., Oakland attorney, announced Sunday.

Martin declared the government's charge she had $80,000 in gold coin and certificates in a safety-deposit box was erroneous. "No such amount is involved," Mr. Martin said, "and there was no intentional infraction of the law by my mother."

The Hollywood Cricket club defeated four San Francisco teams in one week-end with Desmond Roberts making a record of 163 runs against one opposing team.

IT TAKES HEALTHY NERVES TO BE A STEEPLEJACK

Steady Smokers turn to Camels

NOT MANY OF US have the iron nerves necessary to be a New York steeplejack. But we can all take a tip from these dare-devils whose very lives depend on healthy nerves.

As James J. Dwyer tells it: "I've been climbing for years and smoking cigarettes even longer. I picked Camels because they're milder. And when I say milder I mean that no matter how many I smoke they never get on my nerves. What do I think about up there in the air? Not much of anything. Worry? No, no, I smoke Camels—and my nerves are OK."

You'll like Camels, too. Their costlier tobacco certainly makes a difference. In taste. In mildness. And they never get on your nerves.

SYNOPSIS: The first step toward proving that her cousin, Jim Randall, is not Neta Riddell's husband is, Caroline thinks, to trace down Neta's marriage record. She starts to London to do it, wondering meanwhile Neta's further statement that Jim has stolen the Van Berg emeralds and shot Elmer Van Berg. Jim himself cannot be sure what he did, for his memory is mostly gone. In the train a Mrs. Rodgers drops the information that the police are taking fingerprints from some glasses found in the Van Berg library. And Jim does remember drinking with Van Berg! Quick work on the part of firemen probably prevented a serious conflagration.

OFFERS TO PAY $5,000 RANSOM

Wife Of Young Law Student Asks Police To Withdraw From Case.

Chicago, Oct. 17 (AP)—Mrs. Julia Hall Sunday night appealed to the police to withdraw the investigation of the ransom-kidnapping of her husband, William Welton Hall, wealthy law student, saying she wished to deal direct with his captors.

Through her lawyer, J. G. Latimer, Mrs. Hall said she was ready to pay the $5,000 demanded for her husband's safe return. Latimer issued the following statement:

"Mr. Hall's wife and mother desire above all things the safe return of Mr. Hall. They regret the publicity which, without their consent or desire, has been given to his disappearance. They earnestly request that the newspapers refrain from further publicity in reference to the matter and all police activity be suspended pending further negotiations for his return."

Heir to $200,000 Estate

Hall, heir to a $200,000 estate left by his father, a Freeport (Ill.) department-store owner, disappeared Friday night after attending his law school class at Kent college here. His wife received a letter at their Forest Park home Saturday, directing her to a downtown hotel, where she found a message telling her to wait for further instructions.

The two letters and two others, previously mailed from Freeport to

Hall, instructing him to leave $5,000 with his wife "as she will soon need it," were placed in the hands of federal investigators.

Mrs. Hall is the mother of two children. Hall's mother, Mrs. Florence Harrison, of Galesburg, Illinois, arrived at her daughter-in-law's home Sunday to assist the investigators.

Bass At Hatchery Make Good Growth

Reports from Pleasant Mount, the fish commission's giant hatchery in Wayne county, indicate that this year's crop of black bass, from the angle of size and growth is exceptional. These bass, hatched in early June, apparently already have set a record for size at the hatchery. Success in raising bass at the hatchery is attributable in large part to the crop of daphnia, or water fleas that constitute a major factor in their food supply.

The growth of a small-mouth bass, weighed and measured when it was sixty-seven days old, serves as an example of this rapid development. It was found that this bass weighed 2.48 ounces and was 5 1/2 inches long when its size was checked. Uniform growth has been characteristic of the bass at Pleasant Mount this year.

FEW SOUTHPAWS ON PRO GRID

New York (AP)—Southpaws are an accepted fact in baseball with a place on every pitching staff, but in football there are few capable of making the major leagues. There are only two southpaw backs left in the National Football league, Bull Doehring, former Illinois back of the Chicago Bears, and Otto Vokaty, former Heidelberg college star, now with the Chicago Cardinals.

SUGGESTS TOUR TO VIEW WOODS

Autumnal Coloration, Now In Process In State, Presents Beautiful Scenery.

"Now is the time of year to see Penn's Woods in all the glory of their autumnal coloration," said John W. Keller, deputy secretary of the department of forests and waters, today.

"Beautiful at any time, our Pennsylvania forests in the autumn have charms that are unsurpassed and afford scenic views which once seen will long be remembered."

The coloration of the forests in the northern tier of counties is about 50 per cent advanced and is moving southward at a rapid rate, said Keller. The coloration will be at its height in the southern part of the state during the next two weeks, it is expected.

Trees whose foliage assume red, scarlet, or orange tints in the fall are red and sugar maple, black gum, dogwood, sumas, sassafras, Juneberry and scarlet and white oaks. Those whose leaves turn to yellows of varied shades are tulip tree, hickory, locust, birch and beech.

The phenomenon of the autumnal coloration was once thought to have been caused by frost. It is now known that early frost may help, but does not cause it.

Plant physiologists claim that autumnal coloration is caused by a check to the vitality of the leaves, when the manufacture of chlorophyll which gives them their green color ceases with the waning vitality of the tree.

U.S. Joins Virginia in Bidding Farewell to Admiral Byrd

Norfolk, Va., Oct. 17 (AP)—The I. June, chief pilot with the exploration joined with Virginia Sunday in bidding farewell to her native son, Rear-Admiral Richard Evelyn Byrd, U. S. N., retired, and members of his expedition which will leave Norfolk within the next few days for further exploration of the icy wastes of the Antarctic.

Formal ceremonies attended by members of the Byrd family and others prominent in the life of the nation were held at the Norfolk navy yard, where the steamer Jacob Ruppert, flagship of the Byrd expedition, is taking on the last of the supplies for the long trip to the bottom of the world.

Roosevelt Sends Message

City Manager T. P. Thompson spoke for Norfolk, Gov. John Garland Pollard for Virginia and Henry Latrobe Roosevelt, acting secretary of the navy in the absence of Secretary Claude A. Swanson, read a message from President Roosevelt and also extended the navy's best wishes to the party. Acting Secretary Roosevelt spoke from Washington and James A. Farley, postmaster-general, spoke from New York.

An international aspect was given the farewell with the address from London by Admiral Sir William Goodenough, president of the Royal Geographic society. Among the speakers at Norfolk other than Governor Pollard were Admiral Byrd, John Oliver Lagorce, vice president of the National Geographic society; E. K. Cohan, who told of the arrangement made whereby the expedition will be able to keep constantly in touch with the outside world from their icy home, and Harold

The food and drink stand proprietors operating at county fairs during the late summer and autumn have been satisfactorily observing the state health department's regulations, according to H. M. Haines, chief of the restaurant hygiene section of the state health department.

Personnel of this section have been patrolling the grounds of all Pennsylvania fairs since the latter part of August and will conclude this supervisory work during the next two weeks.

The regulations require a physical examination of all food handlers and the establishment of necessary precautions to protect all foods eaten in the raw state from flies, dirt and dust. No prosecutions have been required to enforce compliance. The direct and constant supervision by department representatives resulted in the remedying of a large number of unsatisfactory conditions.

Mother And Brothers There

Senator Harry F. Byrd and Thomas B. Byrd, brothers, and Mrs. Richard Evelyn Byrd, Sr., mother of the explorer, who arrived early Sunday morning, were introduced. Mr. Farley spoke from New York, describing the far flung reaches of the United States postal service, with special reference to the Little America postoffice and special Byrd stamps.

The Marine band and the Navy band at Washington and the Norfolk naval base band furnished music and Kate Smith sang.

Admiral Byrd arrived here Sunday morning and joined his mother and two brothers at a local hotel. Later the party went to the navy yard, where the Jacob Ruppert is docked. The Ruppert will take on the bunker coal and more supplies before she sails and is not expected to get away on her long trip before Wednesday or Thursday.

Wisconsin Town Boasts Of Cash

Superior, Wis. (AP)—A town without a debt and with a substantial bank balance has been found in Douglas county, Wisconsin.

It is Cloverland, with a population of 400, an area of 30,000 acres, three schools, a graveled road "to every farm"—and the distinction of producing one per cent of the total pea crop in the United States.

Conservative operation of the township's affairs is responsible for the record, says State Senator Philip E. Nelson of Maple, who has been chairman of the town board for 12 of the 13 years of its existence.

This year's statement of assessment showed that township's valuation to be $310,740. Only four families have been on the town's relief list.

HOARDER TO GIVE UP

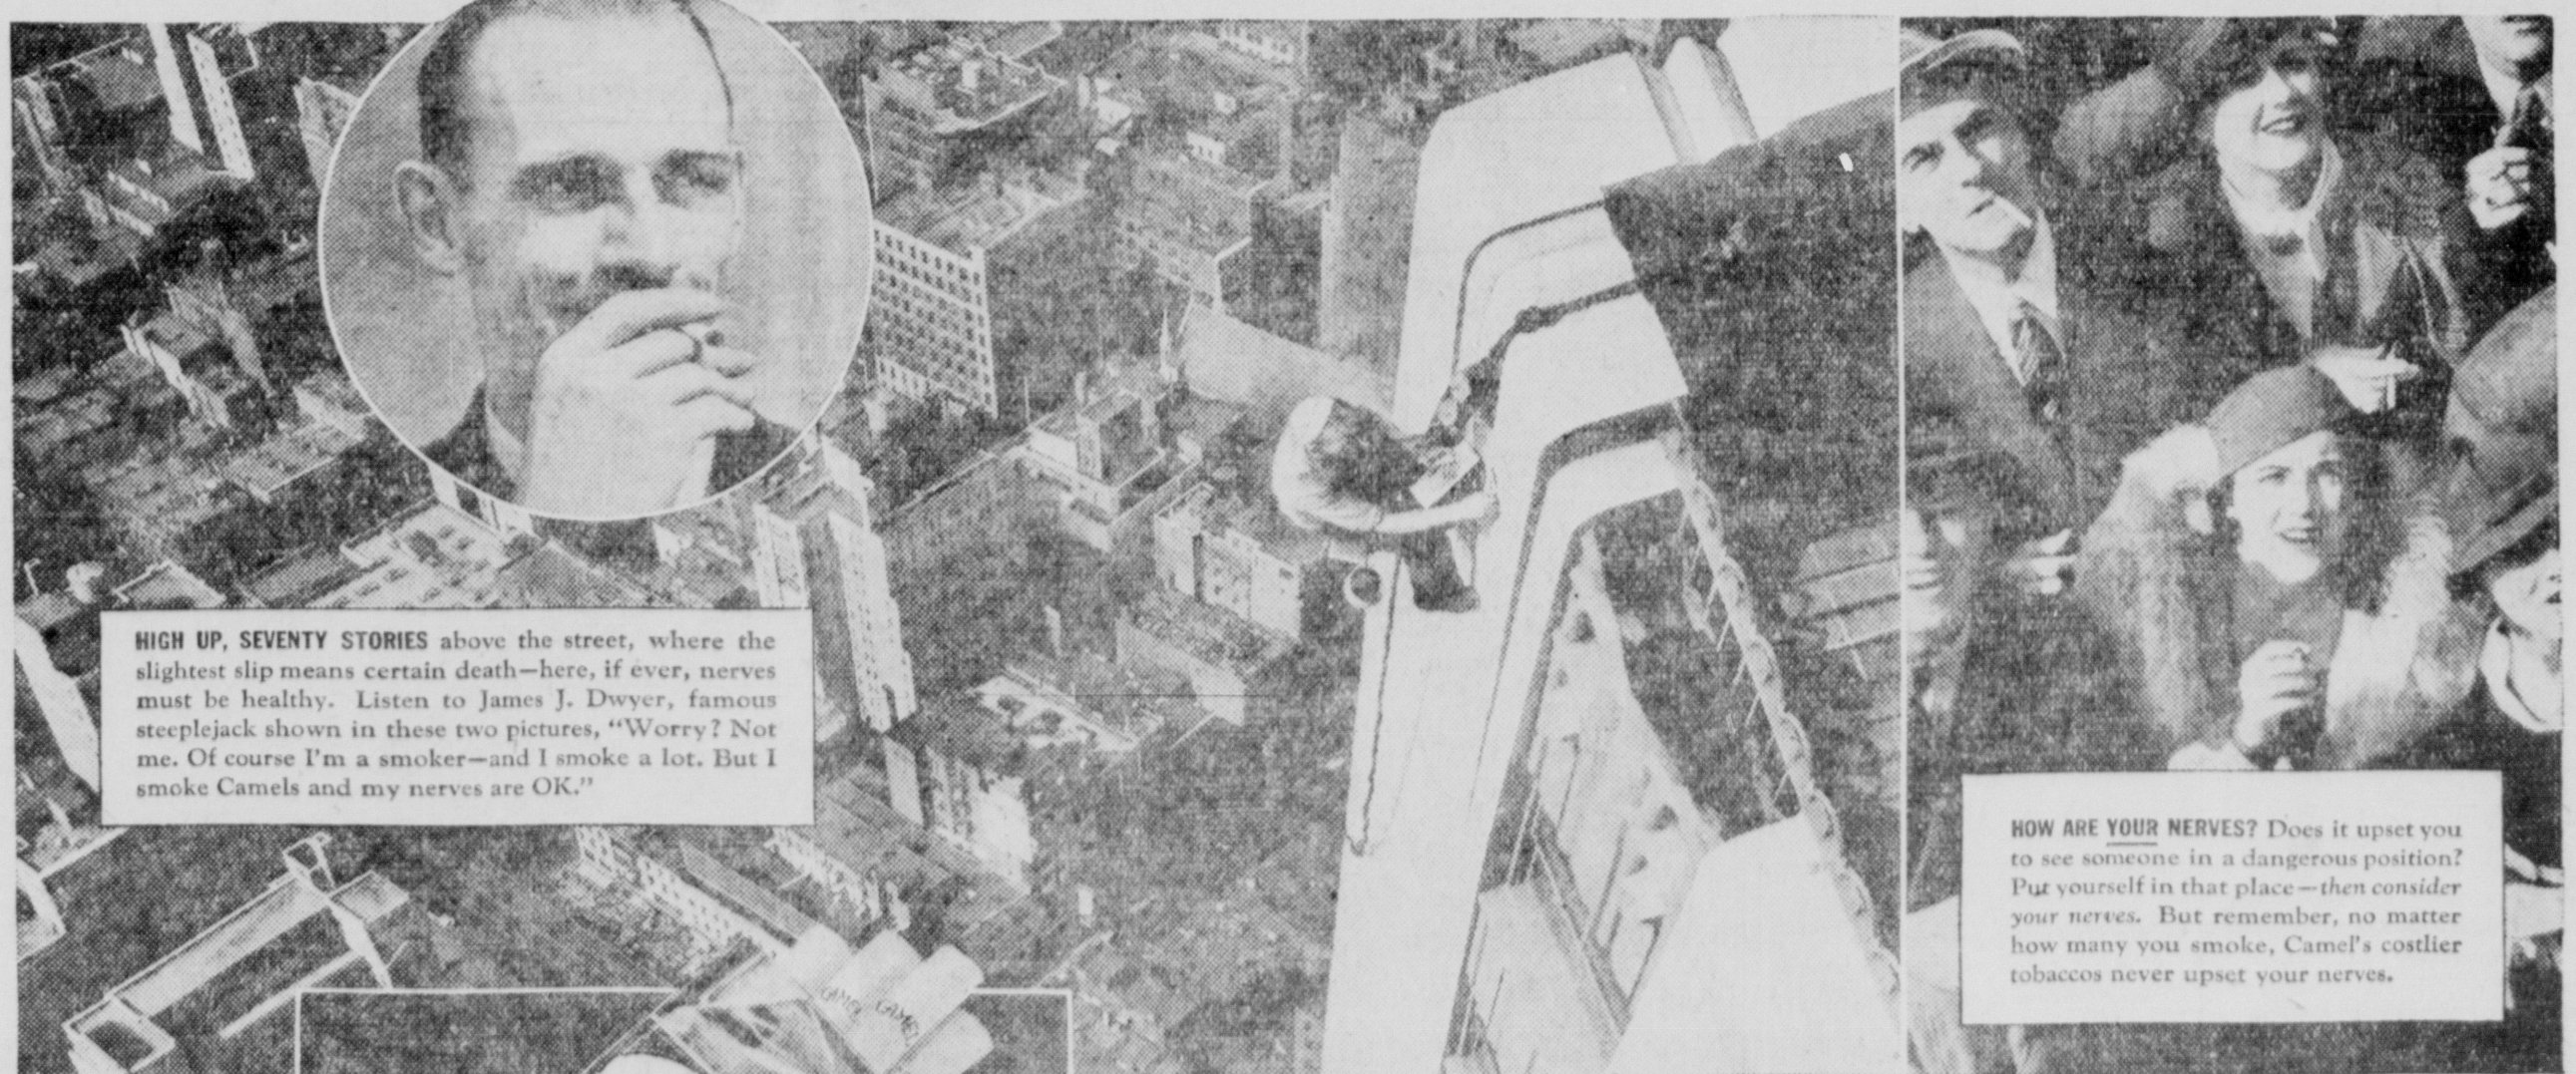

San Francisco, Oct. 17 (AP)—Mrs. Effie L. Martin, charged in a federal complaint with hoarding gold in violation of presidential order, will surrender to federal authorities here her son, John D. Martin, Jr., Oakland attorney, announced Sunday.

Martin declared the government's charge she had $80,000 in gold coin and certificates in a safety-deposit box was erroneous.

"No such amount is involved," Mr. Martin said, "and there was no intentional infraction of the law by my mother."

The Hollywood Cricket club defeated four San Francisco teams in one week-end with Desmond Roberts making a record of 163 runs against one opposing team.

IT TAKES HEALTHY NERVES TO BE A STEEPLEJACK

HIGH UP, SEVENTY STORIES above the street, where the slightest slip means certain death—here, if ever, nerves must be healthy. Listen to James J. Dwyer, famous steeplejack shown in these two pictures, "Worry? Not me. Of course I'm a smoker—and I smoke a lot. But I smoke Camels and my nerves are OK."

HOW ARE YOUR NERVES? Does it upset you to see someone in a dangerous position? Put yourself in that place—then consider your nerves. But remember, no matter how many you smoke, Camel's costlier tobaccos never upset your nerves.

Steady Smokers turn to Camels

NOT MANY OF US have the iron nerves necessary to be a New York steeplejack. But we can all take a tip from these dare-devils whose very lives depend on healthy nerves.

As James J. Dwyer tells it: "I've been climbing for years and smoking cigarettes even longer. I picked Camels because they're milder. And when I say milder

I mean that no matter how many I smoke they never get on my nerves. What do I think about up there in the air? Not much of anything. Worry? Not me, I smoke Camels—and my nerves are OK."

You'll like Camels, too. Their costlier tobaccos certainly make a difference. In taste. In mildness. And they never get on your nerves.

IT IS MORE FUN TO KNOW

Camels are made from finer, MORE EXPENSIVE tobaccos than any other popular brand.

ARREST NEGRO
IN ATTACK CASE

Suspect Spirited Away From Angry Crowds; Held In Baltimore.

Princess Anne, Md., Oct. 17 (AP)—Officers and armed civilians on Maryland's Eastern Shore searched Monday afternoon and evening for a negro accused of attacking an 82-year-old white woman.

About 8:30 o'clock Monday night state police arrested George Armstrong, negro, suspected of being the attacker of the white woman. He was rushed to Baltimore to escape maddening throngs in two Maryland counties.

Assembling after the news spread that Mrs. Mary Denston, the aged wife of a Somerset county farmer, had been attacked Monday, the group, variously estimated at numbering from 500 to 1,000, began a systematic combing of woods and swamplands.

Nightfall did not halt the search. In addition to those who tramped the woods, others were at bridges and on highways to cut off all possible exits.

Mrs. Denston said she did not know the man who attacked her as she returned home after spending the night with her daughter, Mrs. Albert Wagner, but a 24-year-old negro was sought after a hat said to belong to him was found near the scene of the attack.

Somerset county officers started the search, but later in the day they appealed to officers of adjacent counties for aid. From Salisbury Sheriff G. Murray Phillips and Chief of Police N. H. Holland came at the head of a number of officers. From Berlin came Sheriff Wilmer S. Funnell, of Worcester county. State officers also joined in the hunt.

Worker Hears Screams

As he passed a clump of woods, the negro seized her, she said, and tore her clothing from her body. Marion Stacy, a state roads employee, said he heard a woman scream, and on investigation, saw Mrs. Denston. He gave her part of his clothing, took her to her home, and then notified Sheriff Luther Daugherty, of Somerset county.

MARKET RALLIES SLIGHTLY TODAY

New York, Oct. 17 (AP)—Spots of resistance appeared in the financial market today although there were so many dips and rallies that trends generally were difficult for traders to design.

The stock list started out with indications of regaining most of its substantial losses of the previous session. Recoveries of fractions to more than a point were recorded by most of the leaders in the first hour of active trading. The advance encountered a flood of offerings however and there was a sizable reaction around noon. Buying orders again halted the decline and most of the leaders steadied. American telephone was active at a loss of a point or more.

Moderate gains were registered by Allied Chemical, Dupont, U. S. Smelting, U. S. Steel, National Distillers, Chrysler, Case, Deere, American Smelting and American Commercial Alcohol. Union Pacific and Santa Fe were in supply at one time but came back when the list firmed.

Foreigners Are To Be Protected From Nazi Attack

Berlin, Oct. 17 (AP)—The Prussian ministry of the interior today renewed its strict instruction for German citizens to abstain from molesting foreigners.

The orders came a short time after two storm troopers who assaulted Roland Zell, a native of Meriden, Connecticut, for failing to salute a Nazi emblem, were sentenced to six months in jail on charges of assault and battery.

"Fellow citizens will in every way possible be given public protection," said the interior minister's instructions. "Should police intervention be necessary, special tact, caution and courtesy must be used."

1,200 Government Employees Are Put On Temporary Basis

Washington, Oct. 17 (AP)—Twelve hundred government employees went on a temporary employment basis Monday when the procurement division, whose organization was ordered by the president on June 10, came into being.

Employees were notified that their further employment was contingent upon the needs of the new agency.

The procurement division was created by presidential order as an economic measure, its purpose being to center in one office the direction for all the purchasing done by the government.

Reorganization Expedited

On July 27 President Roosevelt issued an order modifying his order of June 10 to permit the treasury to delay the new organization until January 1. Recently, however, decision was taken to expedite the organization and it became effective Sunday.

Eventually, it is the purpose to have the agency either take over or direct the purchasing of all government supplies. Surveys are being made in the supply departments of all agencies to determine whether they shall be abolished or continued under direction of the central agency.

As a preliminary move, the office of the supervising architect, directing the engineers and architects engaged in government buildings and public works; the fuel yards of the bureau of mines; the general supply office and the coordinating service, an interdepartmental board, have been merged to form the procurement division.

The coordinating board has been in charge of surplus materials in all departments, of cataloging and fixing uniform specifications for government supplies.

Will Direct Purchase

Organization of the new division will proceed slowly and as the individual surveys are completed. When it is completed it will purchase or direct purchases for the army and navy as well as other departments. It is also planned to eliminate such waste as now exists in warehousing, where each bureau or agency maintains its own warehouses.

No director of the division has been named. For the time being its functions are centered in the office of the assistant secretary of the treasury in charge of public works. Nor was any estimate made of the amount of money that might be saved by the reorganization.

620,000 GIVEN JOBS IN MONTH

Labor Department Survey Shows Decrease In U. S. Unemployment.

Washington, Oct. 17 (AP)—The labor department reported today that more than 620,000 workers returned to their jobs during September, according to seventeen industrial groups reporting to its bureau of statistics.

Secretary Perkins said that more than 200,000 workers found employment in manufacturing industries and a slightly larger number in retail establishments. The seasonal increase in cannong accounted for 70,000.

Gains were shown in the wholesale trade. Building construction industries indicated more than 20,000 workers were added.

"This increase," said Miss Perkins, "does not represent the total number of persons who were returned to employment in all branches of industry."

"The industry is surveyed each month by the bureau of labor statistics normally employ about 20,000,000 of the 49,000,000 of gainful workers of the country."

"Only a very small portion of the more than 300,000,000 which has been let in the public works administration to date, has been awarded on September 15 and the increase in employment resulting from these contracts is not reflected in the September employment tabulation."

Austria Bares Plot of Nazis

Many Arrested In Arms Conspiracy; Sought To Seize Garrison.

Vienna, Oct. 17 (AP)—An urgent investigation into all garrisons and all branches of the Austrian army was launched Monday night to determine possible nation-wide ramifications of an alleged plot by Nazis to seize the Linz garrison.

Government authorities said they had confiscated documents showing that Nazis in Linz planned to gather in the middle of the night, invade the barracks, arrest the garrison, disarm the officers and men and take their arms "for further action."

Woman Among Conspirators

The alleged conspirators include a woman, said by authorities to be an intimate friend of Reserve Lieut. Adolf Knitschke. Both the woman and the lieutenant were jailed.

It was not immediately apparent whether marital law would be declared if the conspiracy was found to be widespread. The government recently made public a statement describing the procedure whereby martial law can be declared and reminded the public what such a declaration would be.

Martial law, in this event, would have the double purpose of being aimed both at the Nazi party and against the socialist preparations for a general strike.

Maps, Invisible Ink Found

Authorities said that with the confiscated Nazi documents were found military maps and bottles of invisible ink.

The discovery of the plot to deliver the garrison to the Nazis and the secret circulation of new socialist orders to prepare for a general strike was the climax of a feverish twenty-four hours Monday which began with nation-wide Nazi rioting in universities.

A score of Hitlerites, including Franz Fritsch, of the Austrian army, a former artillery sergeant, and a reserve officer, were arrested in connection with the reported conspiracy.

REICH SECRET TUNNEL BARED

Court Calls Halt On Reference To Underground Passage To Goring Home.

Berlin, Oct. 17 (AP)—Testimony regarding an underground passage from the Reichstag building to the official residence of Reichminister Hermann Wilhelm Goring furnished a new sensation Monday in the trial of five men on charges of firing the Reichstag last winter.

An employee of the Reichstag said on the stand that the subway had no safety lock, but merely a makeshift screw-key device which could be opened easily.

Press Cards Voided

This was the first time during the hearings, now in the seventh month, that the tunnel was mentioned, but after the February blaze a government communique said it was likely incendiaries escaped from the parliament building through the secret passage.

It was recalled that during the fire no one was admitted to the building or the tunnel entrances and that police cards of newspaper men were voided for the evening.

George Dimitroff, a Bulgarian refugee and one of the defendants, tried to ask about the lock and doors to the mysterious corridor, but did not get far before the court barred further questions by him in this connection.

Van Der Lubbe Identified

A defense attorney, Alfons Sack, came to Dimitroff's aid, and as a result it was thought testimony about the passage would be an important part of subsequent sessions.

Goring is the Prussian premier and minister of interior as well as national minister without portfolio.

Marinus van der Lubbe, a young Dutch brick mason and another of the accused, was identified by three wandering journeymen tourists who Reichstag officials as one of three visited the building two weeks before the fire.

Interest in extensions of the ornamental street lighting system so as to include one block on each of the four streets radiating from center square, Mr. Buckner presented the following figures on the cost of such additional service:

Twenty-eight 400 candlepower lights, $1,700 a year.

Sixteen 600 candlepower lights, $1,280 a year.

Sixteen 400 candlepower lights, $1,180 a year.

The cost of installing the system and furnishing the light standards and bulbs would be borne by the electric company. Mr. Buckner said, adding that the cost of extending the ornamental lighting system is now 25 per cent less than it would have been two years ago.

No "White Way" Action

While the borough's lighting bill would be larger with the addition of the "white way," Mr. Buckner said the dollar cost per street light would be considerably less than at present.

Except for the luke-warm interest shown by council in the extension of the ornamental street lighting system, no action was taken.

Councilman John Newman reported to council that Hanover has not renewed its lighting contract with the company because it wants a reduction in rates and a one-year contract.

Asked what the company would do if Hanover refuses to renew its light contract with the Metropolitan Edison company, Mr. Buckner said he would not say what steps the company would take. He expressed the opinion, however, that the matter would be satisfactorily adjusted shortly.

Council accepted the invitation of Leroy H. Winebrenner, chairman of the American Legion's Armistice Day committee, to participate in a body in the parade on the afternoon of November 11.

A request for a light on Seminary street was referred to the light committee with authority to act.

Council ordered the highway committee to purchase 10 barrels of patching material for the streets.

To Lay Sidewalk

Lumber dealers of Gettysburg and Adams county were given permission to use the council room for a meeting, Thursday evening.

Council voted to instruct its street commissioner to proceed with the laying of a pavement in front of the property of Mrs. Emory Cleveland, Hanover street. Mrs. Cleveland has ignored several notices of council to lay a new pavement. Council will enter a lien to collect the costs for paying for the pavement.

A suggestion that the Chamber of Commerce raise money for the lighting of center square and any other streets during the Christmas holidays will be presented to the commerce body by Councilman C. Ray Rupp. Council is expected to assist with the cost of the current as it did last year.

Two green bulbs on police lights in center square were ordered replaced and the bill sent to the decorator who is alleged to have broken them.

President A. R. LeVan presided at the session, which was attended by Councilmen Emory C. Williams, D. C. Stallsmith, John Newman, J. B. Wineman and C. Ray Rupp.

FIVE FINED IN KIDNAPPING OF MAN IN LINDY CASE

Clearfield, Oct. 17 (AP)—John J. Devine, private detective, and four other residents of Johnstown were fined Monday for their alleged part in the kidnapping of a Hopewell, New Jersey, fish monger, as a suspect in the Lindbergh baby kidnapping.

Devine was fined $500 and costs. Row Cummings, Paul Cupp, Edward Benschoff and Charles Horner were fined $200 and costs each. Three others convicted recently with those sentenced Monday are to appear later. They are Frank Shugarts, Avery Connors and Reuben Rakestraw, all of Dubois.

The court denied an appeal for a new trial to all.

Devine was convicted of kidnapping Schenck, who boarded near the Lindbergh home, after hearing stories of neighbors that he "knew something" about the child's disappearance. The 47-year-old fish dealer testified he was held prisoner in a cabin from June 10 to August 25 while his abductors sought to force a confession. He was liberated after Mayor Eddie McCloskey, of Johnstown, learned of his whereabouts.

Georgia's bright leaf tobacco crop this year brought farmers more than $6,000,000 in cash.

Therefore fear thou not. O my servant Jacob, said the Lord; neither be dismayed. O Israel: for I will save thee from afar, and thy seed from the land of their captivity; and Jacob shall return, and shall be in rest, and be quiet, and none shall make him afraid.

For I am with thee, saith the Lord, to save thee: though I make a full end of all nations whither I have scattered thee, yet will I not make a full end of thee; but I will correct thee in measure, and will not leave thee altogether unpunished.

For thus saith the Lord, thy bruise is incurable, and thy wound is grievous.

There is none to plead thy cause, that thou mayest be bound up: thou hast no healing medicines.

All thy evils have forgotten thee; they seek thee not; for I have wounded thee with the wound of an enemy, with the chastisement of a cruel one, for the multitude of thine iniquity; because thy sins were increased. Why curst thou for thine affliction? Thy sorrow is incurable for the multitude of thine iniquity; because thy sins were increased, I have done these things unto thee.

Therefore all they that devour thee shall be devoured; and all thine adversaries, every one of them, shall go into captivity; and they that spoil thee shall be a spoil, and all that prey upon thee will I give for a prey.

For I will restore health unto thee, and I will heal thee of thy wounds, saith the Lord; because they called thee an Outcast, saying, This is Zion, whom no man seeketh after.

Jeremiah 30:10-17.

THE ANT WORLD

As I was playing golf today

Across a patch of grass I trod

And something strange upon the sod

Caused me in wonderment to stay.

And hills of earth in little mounds,

Resembling pyramids of old,

The story of a region told

Where ceaseless energy abounds.

I'd seen them many times before.

But curiously then thought I

A world beneath my feet must lie.

A world which men cannot explore.

The busy creatures tug and strain

And daily scurry to and fro,

Tunnelling the mighty earth below,

Not thinking all their toil is vain.

Men go about his tasks and games

And know not of his world and its affairs.

Its pleasures and its daily cares.

His goal his whole attention claims.

But here's the ant world fraught with life.

Builds his pyramids of sand,

And we could but understand,

Thinking the mystery of life.

Therefore fear thou not. O my servant Jacob, said the Lord: neither be dismayed. O Israel: for I will save thee from afar, and thy seed from the land of their captivity: and Jacob shall return, and shall be in rest, and be quiet, and none shall make him afraid.

For I am with thee, saith the Lord, to save thee: though I make a full end of all nations whither
I have scattered thee, yet will I not make a full end of thee: but I will correct thee in measure, and will not leave thee altogether unpunished.

For thus saith the Lord, thy bruise is incurable, and thy wound is grievous.

There is none to plead thy cause, that thou mayest be bound up: thou hast no healing medicines.

All thy overs have forgotten thee: they seek thee not: for I have wounded thee with the wound of an enemy, with the chastisement of a cruel one, for the multitude of thine iniquity:
because thy sins were increased,
Why curtest thou for thine af-liction? Thy sorrow is incurable
because thy sins were increased,
I have done these things unto thee.

Therefore all they that devour thee shall be devoured: and all thine adversaries, every one of them, shall go into captivity: and they that spoil thee shall be a spoil, and all that prey upon thee
will I give for a prey.

For I will restore health unto thee, and I will heal thee of thy wounds, saith the Lord: because they called thee an Outcast, saying, This is Zion, whom no man seeketh after.

the Rev. J. A. Boll, Joseph Redding, Jr., to Miss Agnes Hemler, both of Cumberland township.

THE ANT WORLD

As I was playing golf today
Across a patch of grass I trod
And something strange upon the sod
Caused me in wonderment to stay.
And hills of earth in little mounds,
Resembling pyramids of old,
The story of a region told
Where ceaseless energy abounds.

I'd seen them many times before.
But curiously then thought I
A world beneath my feet must lie.

A world which men cannot explore.
The busy creatures tug and strain
And daily scurry to and fro, Tunneling the mighty earth below.

Not thinking all their toil is vain.
Men go about his tasks and games
And heed not all that lies at his affairs.

Its pleasures and its daily cares,
His goal his whole at-tion claims.
But here's the ant world fraught with
Builds its pyramids of sand,
We could but understand,
The mystery of life.

TODAY'S TALK
By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

HE WHO PUSHES ON

NO MATTER what enterprises are started in this world, there are always those about who will find fault, who will kick against them, who will do all they can to stay progress.
He who pushes on, writes history!

We work with confidence under that one who plans greatly, and we follow with enthusiasm all his dreams. And usually we absorb the spirit that conceived those dreams.

H. M. Tomlinson's latest book, "The Snows of Helicon," is most absorbing. Here is an interesting conversation in which one of the engineers was questioned by his friend:

"You won't put in your concrete without knowing it's yours?"
"Why, yes, I shall put it in. The boss knows what he is doing. If he sent me a chit to erect pylons in St. James' Park I'd begin."

"Suppose people kicked?"

The engineer was faintly superior. He readjusted his eyeglasses.
"We're used to it. They always kick. We push on with the job and take no notice. The thing is to get the foundation done. Once we've got our base fixed they see it's no kook kidding."

In the story, however, this removal meant the removal of deathless beauty—a marble temple of art. There is vast import involved in pushing on. Only as we nobly and unselfishly dream and push on with those dreams, do we merit the love and regard, as well as admiration, of the time in which we live and the years to follow.

He who pushes on with a useful purpose, can afford to await the verdict of time. And that without any personal concern.

Paris Finds War Fears Aroused;
'We Are Calm,' Government Says

Paris, Oct. 17 (AP)—A foreign official said Sunday that war fears have been re-aroused by Saturday's speech of Chancellor Hitler of Germany but that "we are calm."

"The situation is grave," he said,
"but France is keeping cool."

He said Hitler's acts had re-aroused the treaty of Versailles.

Premier Daladier kept silent. He sat much of the day in the ministry of war consulting political and military chiefs and trying to map France's course.

In official circles it was said the Daladier cabinet had gained tremendous strength in the present situation and all parliamentary talk among deputies is of a national unity to face an unmasked Germany.

The government, it was said of-

Macon Moored To Its Western Base

Sunnyvale, Calif., Oct. 17 (AP)—
The silver-hued Macon, empress of all man's sky ships, came to her home base here Sunday after spanning the nation from Lakehurst
New Jersey, in seventy hours and seventeen minutes.

When a brilliant sun reflected from her shimmering sides and 30-000 persons watched the giant navy dirigible nosed slowly up to the mooring mast and made fast at 7:17
p. m. (Gettysburg time).

The Macon sailed slowly over San Francisco and other bay cities before returning southward to her base, named for Rear Admiral William A. Moffett, whose life was lost in the crash off the eastern coast
of the Macon's ill-fated sister ship,
the Akron.

brand new jumper frock in her

a serviceable blue or brown, she only needs a couple of perky silk or cotton guimpes for a complete new crispness of the model shown today —and it's so easy to make, a young girl could do it herself!

Depew's Home
Is Turned Into Rooming House

New York, Oct. 17.—The splendor that was Chauncey M. Depew's town residence is going the way of many another West Side brownstone mansion.

The stately old home where countless great were entertained while the capitalist, statesman and wit was its owner will become a rooming house.
A few of its thirty-four rooms will be transformed into two and three room apartments, but the rest will be let furnished.

The house, at 27 West 54th street, is getting the finishing touches from workmen. It had four baths. Five are being added.

The great drawing room and the nearby library, where many rare volumes were shelved beside round volumes of Depew's famous speeches, will be unchanged.

Rich woodwork throughout the house is being left almost untouched. Murals are being retouched and other walls, with their big mirrors, are being repainted. The imposing entrance and great staircase are left without change.

The mansion, with its high, wide steps and ornate brownstone front, is in the north side of the block, not far from the town homes of John D. Rockefeller and John D. Rockefeller, Jr., on the south side.

Chauncey M. Depew, Jr., lived there for a time after his father's death. The son died in January, 1931. It has been unoccupied since,
with elaborate speakies and rooming houses growing up about it.

Washington
Highlights

By HERBERT PLUMMER

Washington.—Visions of a renewed effort to resurrect the Black 30-hour week bill in the coming session of congress loom as the result of labor's open declaration that hours under the NRA are unsatisfactory.

Washington observers regard it as fairly certain that William Green's opening statement to the fifty-third annual convention of the American Federation of Labor that unemployment will not be eliminated until a 30-hour work week is established forecasts such a move.

The Black bill, authored by Senator Black of Alabama, already has passed the senate. Approval of the measure was given by that body by a vote of 50 to 23 early in April.

In the house, Connery, of Massachusetts, chairman of the labor committee, offered a bill of his own as a substitute for that of Black's. It was while this bill was before the house's labor committee that Frances Perkins, secretary of labor, made her first appearance before a congressional body.

On The Shelf

Miss Perkins proposed changes in the bill which immediately brought protests from labor leaders. Matthew Woll, vice president of the American Federation, told the same committee that the labor secretary's plan "would make serfs of American industrial workers" and hinted
of an uprising of wage earners.

The result of the whole affair was that the Connery substitute bill was shelved.

What actually halted legislation was the fact President Roosevelt had his own plan for dealing with the situation.

The administration was eager to try out its own plan.

Labor's Eyes Alert

Green or his associates have set in on all of the codes drawn under the recovery act and have had much to say about the labor provisions.

Therefore, his observation is regarded as significant.

"In our mature judgment, our honest judgment," he says, "the hours in many of these codes are

CATARRHAL DEAF-NESS MAY BE OVERCOME

If you have Catarrhal Deafness or are even just a little hard of hearing or have head
noises go to People's Drug Store or your druggist and get 1 ounce of Parmit (double strength), and add to it 1/2 pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar. Take 1 tablespoonful four times a day.

This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and the mucus stop dropping into the throat. It is easy to prepare, costs little and is pleasant to take. Anyone losing hearing or who has Catarrhal Deafness or head noises should give this prescription a trial.

Dr. J. F. Fulton, of the Yale
School of Medicine, said, apropos

Find Clue In Airplane Blast

Chicago, Oct. 17 (AP)—Federal investigation of the crash of a United Air Lines plane, at Chesterton, Indiana, Tuesday, causing the death of seven persons, turned Sunday to a search for a man who was reported to have carried a brown package into the plane just before it left Newark, New Jersey airport.

This clue was communicated to Melvin Purvis, chief of the Chicago
office of the bureau of investigation.
Mr. Purvis said federal authorities at Cleveland and Newark, were working on the case.

A belief that the crack-up was caused by a violent explosion on board, possibly the bursting of a bomb, has been expressed, both by federal agents and officials of the air lines. It was believed that an explosive might have been carried into the plane in the brown package. The story of the package was told by Crawford Newby, negro porter for the line.

The term "love" employed in scoring tennis is said to be derived from

ing "the egg."

so high that they will not absorb a single worker. Three million have been taken back to work, but 11 million are still unemployed."

While Green counsels patience with the "new deal," he insists hours be reduced sufficiently to increase employment.

One method might be a drastic rewriting of the codes now in effect. The other might be for congress itself to act.

Many New Stock

Lincoln, Neb. (AP)—Branding lions are glowing in Nebraska this year.

Eleven hundred new brands have been registered with the secretary of state here since January 1, compared with 1,400 during the previous two years. There are about 13,000 registered brands.

L. B. Maupin, in charge of the registration, said that government loan requirements and a new law fixing a penalty for using an unregistered brand had caused the increase.

CITY'S MOVING DONE EXPERTLY
Expert Moving Men Display Artistry In All Work; Complications Arise.

By WILLIAM GAINES

New York—It's a revelation to watch New York's expert moving men on the job.

Some of these huskies working for companies that charge $6 to $12 and more an hour to do, in truth, know how to make-haste-slowly. There is artistry in every shifting of a stick of furniture. If there is any breakage, the owner has the satisfaction of knowing that the breaking was done with great ceremony.

They've got this moving business down to such a fine point now that an apartment dweller, moving from one address to another, doesn't so much as have to pack his pants in his trunk.

The moving men sweep into a place with barrels, boxes and packing paper. Just give them the instruction that everything is to be removed and everything will be. They won't even leave a broken pencil point on the floor. If they break anything themselves, they deliver every little piece. They give care and time to packing all the little odds and ends—more time than care.

In this recent fall moving period, the streets seemed to me to be jammed with huge vans as never before. They rumbled up and down the streets like a great circus parade. They completely blocked the streets, parked around some big hotels and apartment houses. Around October 1 many of the companies were turning down orders; didn't have enough trucks to fill them.

On the hour rate arrangement (generally enforced in busy periods), everything counts that takes up the time of the men. Hotels and apartment buildings have just so many freight elevators. Everybody's furniture must wait its turn. It's little things like those that delight the nomadic New Yorker.

That's New York
New Yorkers who found apartment managers so charming and accommodating when they moved in, sometimes are amazed at how indifferent the same managers can be when they move out.

There is one place where the management actually seems to delight in deviling the tenants it is losing. Moving men tell me that they seldom take a load from there without some manner of unpleasant complication arising.

Restrictions Gone
The new shuffle of apartment tenants emphasizes the fact that old-time restrictions, that made some places so "exclusive," are going, going, gone. Too many vacancies; managers are tired of empty rooms. Establishments that used to give close examination to the social as well as the financial rating of an applicant, now are inclined to ask only if he can pay his rent.

Numbers of Manhattan apartment houses that barred small children, now are accepting any family with less than 40 youngsters.

Old racial bans have collapsed almost everywhere.

Withal, the real estate men profess to be in better cheer over fall developments than they were this time last year.

CONTROL TELLS THE TALE
New York (AP)—Max Carey, boss of the Brooklyn Dodgers, declares Carl Hubbell's brilliant pitching is not due to a "screw" ball or any other fancy delivery, but to the fact that the Giant's star has the most perfect control of any pitcher in the game today.

PRIESTS FORM DIAMOND TEAM
Tokyo (AP)—The younger priests of the Zojiji, huge, ancient and famous Buddhist temple in Shiba park, Tokyo, have organized their own nine and begun competition against fast Tokyo teams.
